THE ENGLISH TORIES ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS.—Reading the comments of the British Tory journals on American affairs, at the present time, excites an emotion akin to that attributed to Douglas Jerrold, who, on getting through a volume of Browning, declared that either the poet was crazy or he himself was. We are afraid the people of the United States do not comprehend what they are about, or what perils environ them. They are indulging the allusion that the golden days of peace have returned, when according to the very latest London Herald received by the last steamer, they are just plunging into the initial horrors of a terrible and desolating civil war.

The leading Tory organ, apropos of Lord Russell's recent letter, withdrawing belligerent rights from the rebels, pronounces his Lordship's action entirely "premature." It says that "war still rages over two thirds of the area of 'the late United States,' and that, if in the eastern third the war is at an end for the present, in the western two thirds it is just now only beginning!" It adds that, with the exception of what, with an amusing display of cockney geographical wisdom, it describes as "a belt of land on the Pacific, known as California," the whole of this vast western region is "open to the Confederate armies."

The luscious oracle then proceeds to draw a vivid picture of the inexhaustible resources of the "Trans Mississippi States—their one million two hundred thousand inhabitants, exclusive of negroes, their strategic positions; their splendid prospects." The mere perusal of this catalogue would make Kirby Smith weep for the priceless advantages he has thrown away. "St. Louis, now reposing in fancied security, should shudder at the peril it has escaped." "The State of Missouri," says this far seeing strategist, "lies open to the defenders of the West, (i. e. Price and Buckner,) and at any moment they may scour through it and ravage it with impunity." Nay, even the Confederates "may carry the war again into the Eastern States!" since, "it is at least doubtful whether Sheridan, in his mission to the West, can be spared a sufficient number of men to give him any chance of prevailing against a resolute antagonist in such a country."

Kirby Smith, of course, is the resolute antagonist who is going to annihilate Sheridan, and he commands a force, according to the London Herald before which even the hero of Cedar Creek need not be ashamed to succumb. "General Smith has 150,000 men on his muster rolls, and issues rations daily for 85,000 effectives!" These figures the Herald has on the information of a traveler lately returned from Texas." Of course this is the same reliable gentleman who gave timely notice to the London Times, New York correspondent of the condition of matters in the Trans-Mississippi region.

The facts and figures we have quoted, let it be remembered, appeared in a "new paper" dated as late as June 7th. The conclusion is edifying. "The Southron," says this Bottom among the journalists, "will be lawful belligerents, in spite of Mr. Andrew Johnson and his friend Lord Russell, who declares the war is at an end, when it is very manifest that nothing of the kind is the case." And, with an assurance positively sublime, he adds that the American President and the Foreign Secretary "have both placed themselves in an absurd position, and edified the world with an exhibition of Statecraft which might be very mischievous, were it not so utterly contemptible." Surely, one Anglo-Confederate writer, at least, by this time has the agreeable consciousness of having written himself down an ass.—New York Times.

JOSH BILLINGS ON POULTRY RAISING.—The best time to set a hen is when the hen is reddey. I kant tell yu what the best breed is, but the shanghigh is the meatiest. It kosts as much to bord one as it dus a stage hoss, and you mite as well undertake to fat a fannin-mill by runnin oats thru it. There ain't no profit in keepin a hen for his eggs if he lays less than one a day. Hens are very long lived, if they don't contrakt the throte disease, and there is a grate menny gone to pot evry year bi this melankolly disease. I kant tell exactly how to pick out a good hen, but as a general thing the long eared ones, I kno, are the least apt to skratch up the garden. Eggs packed in equal parts of salt and lime-water, with the other end down, will keep from 30 to 40 years, if they air not disturbed. I suppose 4 or 5 pounds a day wud be awl that a hen wud need, at fust along. I shall be happee to advise with yu, at enny time, on the hen question and—take it in eggs.

The Daily Oregonian

[illegible] PAPER [illegible] STATE

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST [illegible]

The Future of Portland.

Several of our contemporaries have from time to time been discussing the question as to what point will be the future metropolis of Oregon. Now [illegible] the settlement of this question is not in the hands of a few persons, nor does it depend [illegible] upon the will of those who [illegible] cities to be built at certain points are foolish[illegible] minded that their designs will, in one way or another, be carried out. Men find that while they are wrangling over the abstract question natural causes have already decided it. The configuration of a country, its adaptability to certain industrial pursuits, the extent and direction of its water courses, and of late years, since their use has become so general, the inducements and facilities which a country offers for the construction of railways—all these things and others of a like kind that could be easily named, determine where the centres of trade and commerce shall be located. In general, it may be said that in obedience to natural laws, cities choose their own locations, and that, while they may be aided in some degree by the artificial means which capital provides, they never can by any such process be caused to spring up and flourish wherever the hopeful vender of corner lots in imaginary streets, may desire them to grow.

In conformity with the natural laws of business and trade, Portland has grown to its present stature as a city. Of course, if the same agencies which caused this place to be built, continue hereafter in operation, Portland will for all future time, easily hold the pre-eminence she has gained. If, however, the present posture of Oregon affairs should undergo an entire change, or, while the country increases in importance and wealth, trade should seek other channels because of the cheapness, efficiency and expedition of newer routes—if, in short, the commercial position which Portland holds in relation to the balance of the State should hereafter be lost, then some of the predictions of those who, to carry out favorite theories, foretell the rise of cities which shall surpass any already founded, would no doubt be realized. But taking things as they are now and as they promise for the future, we may reasonably rely upon it that with proper foresight, judgment and conduct on the part of those interested here there can be no change in the course of trade which will be detrimental to the prosperity of this place.

After a time, when we grow rich enough to build them, or when our business becomes so considerable that capitalists from abroad may deem it a profitable investment to construct them for us, railroads will be introduced in Oregon. When that time arrives, Portland must be ready to look out for her own interests in the matter of their construction. For the present, however, there are other things to be looked to, which if our citizens and business men disregard, they will very grossly neglect to take advantage of the opportunities that are offered them.

Every measure which is calculated to concenter and keep at this point the trade of all parts of Oregon and the adjoining Territories, or that so much of them as have hitherto regarded Portland as their market, ought to receive the attention of our merchants. From articles which have appeared at various times in papers throughout the valley, we draw the conclusion that country merchants consider that they have often been imposed upon by dealers here. We do not intend to say that these charges are true, for we have no means of knowing what the facts are. Several of the papers say that the country merchants are now purposing to pass Portland by, and to go to San Francisco to obtain their goods. Now, nothing will be easier than to prevent them from doing so. It is only necessary that such a system of dealing be adopted—if it has not already been done—as will convince the merchants from the country that they can obtain goods here at wholesale prices for a smaller outlay of money than will be required, should they themselves go to San Francisco to superintend the purchase of the merchandise they want. We make these suggestions merely for the benefit of those interested. When a customer comes it is never wise to deal with him just as if it were supposed he would never come again. The true theory of business is to work for the establishment of a steady, healthy trade, instead of making efforts to gain large profits at once, by a course of spasmodic speculation.

Portland has for a very long time controlled the trade of the Northern coast, and it will be the fault of her business men if she do not hold the position she has gained. No point north of San Francisco possesses a single natural facility which does not exist here. If the natural advantages which Portland possesses be properly seconded by the efforts of her citizens, the prosperity of this place will be as permanent as its growth has been rapid. Much, however, depends on the spirit and judgment of its people. The enterprise and capital of this place ought to be employed constantly in searching for new avenues of trade, as well as in supplying the wants of those who look hither for a market, and whom we furnish with the commodities they desire.

EUROPEAN PRECEDENTS.—The London Daily News shows that the English journals which are so fruitful in citing precedents from European history for the merciful treatment of rebels, are far wide of the mark. When they urge us to imitate what England has done in the case of criminals even less atrocious than our leading rebels, they simply ask us to execute those who have fallen into our hands. It is not quite consistent in those who, in the memory of men yet living, have resorted to and applauded the use of the rope, the axe, and that crowning horror, the executioner's cannon, to plead their own compassionate example in the hope of saving lives of persons infinitely more deserving of death than any whom England ever condemned to be drawn and quartered. The News rightly says that if we spare those who are responsible for our great rebellion, we shall do more than our European advisers have ever done. That paper thus speaks of the inappropriateness of European precedents:

> One of the worst services which our public writers could render to Davis would be to urge European precedents and principles upon the American Government at this juncture as worthy of its imitation and adoption. There has already been too much of a disposition to take this course. When the Government of the United States is told that in punishing Davis it would be guilty of an unparalleled crime, it is natural that those who are shocked at so great a perversion of the truth should revive the record of events in our own history in which the infliction of extreme penalties for rebellion has been approved by our most enlightened and liberal historians. A [illegible] lately called attention in our columns to the opinions of Lord Mahon and Hallam on the execution of the Jacobites in 1715, and another recalls the opinions held by British Ministers as to the proper manner of disposing of Napoleon Bonaparte. These instances may fairly be adduced to rebuke those who foolishly pretend that it is the common practice in Europe to permit the leaders of great rebellions to go away without punishment [illegible]. But we should be [illegible] to leave the question to the [illegible]. If Davis is to be saved it must be [illegible] magnanimity of which [illegible] European Christendom affords no example; and the Americans are a people of too much [illegible] to be able to ascertain for themselves the course which becomes their character in their present situation.

We wonder if those sentimental gallants who are so deeply distressed on account of the disgrace which has fallen upon the tender sex in consequence of the hanging of that female fiend, Mrs. Surratt, will make the same ado when Jeff. Davis is hung, because he once wore petticoats?

[illegible] In New York Copper[illegible] a nuisance would be cheap [illegible] patriotic purposes. When Ben Wood [illegible]

[illegible]—The Albany New [illegible] makes mention of an interview which a distinguished gentleman of Washington had with the rebel Governor Brown, of Georgia, [illegible]

[illegible]

We are [illegible] at the hands of our conquerors [illegible]

GROWLERS IN THE SOUTH.—The old leaven is still strong in conquered Virginia. For some time yet it will keep the affairs of that unhappy State in an active ferment. We fear the rebellious Virginians have not yet been sufficiently punished. [illegible] "chivalry" seem to have no appreciation of the magnanimity and generosity which are shown by those who, if they chose, could punish them with the most rigorous penalties. The Petersburg News of the 11th June declares that:

> There is a very unnecessary irritability in some minds with respect to the word rebel. How any Virginian can share this sensitiveness we cannot imagine. Take from the past history of the Old Dominion the names and the deeds of her rebel sons, and she will have no prouder history than Maine or Michigan, Connecticut or Kansas; a beggarly account of Indian fights and [illegible] in one half of her career, and the crops and cotton mills in the other.
> Her annals are the biographies of rebels. She cherishes few memories save those of rebels. She has never reared a monument except to a rebel. A rebel lies within the hallowed bounds of Mount Vernon. A rebel looks down on her noblest pile, his work, from Monticello. A rebel in enduring bronze keeps watch and ward over her capital, and bronze rebels are thought worthy to fill the pedestal of the rebel's statue. Does it become her to blush at the name of rebel?

MICHIGAN'S RECORD.—In making up the closing statement of the record, or of that part Michigan as a State has borne in it, the Adjutant General has arrived at results which will agreeably surprise the people of the State. Michigan has furnished to the United States for prosecuting the war against the rebellion 91,195 men. The organized bodies she has sent into the field, and which she has kept up, besides supplying troops included in organizations in Illinois, New York and Missouri, and in the regular service, are thirty regiments of infantry, fourteen batteries of artillery, and eleven regiments of cavalry. The total population of our state when the war commenced was 751,291, and according to the census of 1864 it was 803,745, so that according to the latter figures, which include, of course, men, women and children, we have put in the field for the defense of the Union almost an eighth of our entire population. And we may add that no State has better equipped or cared for its troops than Michigan, and no troops have made a prouder military record. They have served in every section of the field of strife, and been eminent for valor on every occasion. Not a regiment has skulked or run during the war. It was a Michigan regiment that bore the palm at Antietam; a Michigan regiment that planted the first Union flag in Petersburg, the capture of which led to the fall of Richmond, and the collapse of the rebellion, and it was a Michigan regiment that captured the President of the rebel Confederacy. Our record is made up.—Detroit Advertiser and Tribune.

REBELS RETURNING TO CALIFORNIA.—Castine, the Sacramento Union's correspondent, writing from Washington, says of rebellious persons who are now anxious to return to California, whence they went at the beginning of the war:

> I have heard the names of several rebel Californians who are reported as being about to return to the State which they [illegible] fight against the Government which now protects them. [illegible]

Yaquina Bay. — We learn by [illegible] Yaquina Bay that [illegible] passing to light steamer [illegible] and San Francisco. The steamer [illegible] carrying about 200 tons. There will be [illegible] the bay, connecting the harbor with the [illegible] road, as is the case at present with the [illegible] Pioneer, [illegible] of the place. This boat is now the only [illegible] pelled by steam on the Bay. [illegible] by Capt. Hodge, is running, [illegible] but generally speaking, when the [illegible] on shoal places, [illegible] she beats the river boats both ways. [illegible] but twice in the distance, 35 miles. The [illegible] Coast Range is [illegible] doubt but that at some future day this place, now a sort of remote adjunct of the Willamette valley, will come to be of some consequence. It is a [illegible] and, allowing for the exaggeration of interested parties, will probably attain considerable prominence in the coast trade, and prove a considerable convenience to the people of the central portion of the State. The putting on of a 200 ton steamer connecting that place with San Francisco, will increase trade with that port somewhat, but we do not deem that it will interfere with the business of Portland to any great extent, as it will be more likely to create a business that does not exist. The bay abounds with fish and oysters of the very best quality. Coal is reported to have been found in the vicinity, and gold placers are said to exist not far distant which have been worked for years. There is not a very great amount of agricultural land, that can be obtained, in the region, after leaving the Willamette valley.

The St. Helens Iron Ore. — We recently stated that a prospecting party were engaged in opening [illegible] are a short distance back from the Columbia river at St. Helens. We now learn that the work has been very successful. The party have prospected around the base of a hill for a distance of over half a mile, on which distance some forty holes were sunk, nearly all of which have disclosed ore. These holes are from three to [illegible] feet deep, and show heavy masses of iron, in some places nearly solid. One of these prospect holes is [illegible] feet by eight feet in size, and four feet deep, at the bottom of which a solid mass of iron is found. In some places the prospectors came to a red clay, intermixed with iron ore, after passing which they strike solid ore, then again ore composed of small particles like shot. They are quite sanguine as to the extent of the mine, which, if it is definitely settled to be as it is now expected, will furnish ore for future generations to work. A quantity of the ore taken out will be sent to San Francisco by the beginning of next week to undergo a practical test to define its worth.

A Strange Vehicle. — A strange looking vehicle drawn by four horses and bearing two men, passed through Front street yesterday. Some gazed in wonder at the immensity of the wheels, which were of iron of great weight. The chariots of ancient days, the car of Juggernaut or Krishna, Juno and Neptune suggested themselves. It might be the former, except that being so high and square and mounted on sixteen wheels, this had but five wheels, and was very low. The spindle, however was metallic, varying only from the chariot of Juno in this respect, that the wheels were not closely together and fewer spoked, and were banded with cast iron. After all the speculation as to what the novel car was, it proved to be a modern invention for rolling down earth, gravel, stone, etc., in the work of improving Portland streets. It was made by Perry & Co., at one of the city foundries, and weighs when completed, ninety hundred pounds.

Chinese System of Doctoring. — A Chinaman named Levi—Dr. Devi—was fined $20 in Recorder's Court yesterday, for cruelly beating a Celestial woman. The testimony was direct, and went to show that he thrashed the woman beautifully, but the defense set up was, that it was a system in his practice, necessary to relax the nerves of the patient. He was informed by the Court that his system did not conform with Ordinance No. 10, and that he must avoid a repetition of that character in practicing medicine.

Took the Oath. — The following Attorneys took the oath of allegiance to the U. S. Government, in pursuance to the late Act of Congress, at the late term of the District Court of the United States in this District: Wm. Strong, Lansing Stout, Charles Larabee, W. W. Page, Amory Holbrook, A. J. Lawrence, and H. F. Dowell. We believe these constitute the Attorneys admitted to practice in the United States Courts of Oregon.

The Woods on Fire. — The woods about the western terminus of the city, and in places three or four miles farther out, have been burning vigorously for some days past. The flames lighted up the horizon on Thursday night most magnificently. The scene was equal to a Fourth of July demonstration in the evening.

A New Ferry. — The keeper of the saloon just above the court house is taking into account the probabilities of a necessity for an investment in a ferry boat, for crossing the street in front of his premises, when the rainy weather shall set in. Unless a sewer is constructed the ferry boat will certainly be needed.

Patented. — Private telegrams received from New York lately, announce that Messrs. Howe & Co. of this city have secured a patent on the wheel manufacturing machine combining turning, planing, etc., invented by Mr. J. M. Howe, the original inventor of the Jacobs machine now creating a sensation at the East.

Sale of Real Estate. — A piece of property on the corner of Mill and Seventh streets, valuable to any person desiring a residence in the city, will be offered for sale today by A. B. Richardson, auctioneer. There is a comfortable dwelling on the premises. Title perfect. Terms cash, are the conditions.

The Nicolson. — The work of laying blocks for the Nicolson pavement will be commenced this morning at the crossing of Pine street on Front, about nine o'clock. All who have any desire to witness the process by which the most elegant streets in the country are made can do so, as there is no charge for looking on.

Dried Off. — Draymen and truckmen complain that the absence of moist weather is hard on their material, that the wear and tear of trucks is astonishing. Tires [illegible] incontinently off their felloes, and stakes are necessarily brought into requisition to keep them on.

About to Go Down. — The wharf boat lying just below Knott's wharf, is in rather a precarious condition, and unless pumped out will not be likely to stay long exposed to sight. The hull is full and entirely submerged in the water.

Accident to a Convict. — A convict in the Penitentiary gang, working on Robinson Hill's [illegible] was severely injured by the caving of a bank of earth upon him, which he was picking. We did not obtain particulars.

Treasure. — There was a heavy treasure [illegible] from the upper [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express.

New Hampshire lately ratified the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery. Of the Northern States, Iowa, California and Oregon have not yet spoken on the question. The prospect is that the vote of twenty seven States will be secured for the Amendment before the beginning of [illegible].

Rivers, Judas was an exemplary traitor. After his treason he went out and hung himself. Very few of his tribe have ever imitated his example. Ruffin, of South Carolina, is an exception. Having lived like Judas, he was willing to die like him, and so blew out his own brains. If a few others would "go and do likewise," it would remove a very difficult question from the area of debate.

Virginia Opinion of Buchanan. — The Petersburg News says that "James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania, is in a greater degree responsible for the late rebellion than any man that lives."

How Grant Got Into the War. — The [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] through the re-enactment by a Union Legislature of their old Sunday Law. Can brazen faced impudence and sneaking party hypocrisy go further than this? We think not, but pause for a reply. — Jacksonville Sentinel.

Starvation at the South. — The Augusta (Ga.) Transcript says:

"The system of plunder inaugurated in some of our Southern cities will, unless speedily arrested, bring the whole people to starvation. We recently mentioned the sad condition of the people of Camden, whose houses were subject to visitation by an armed mob, and who were allowed to have nothing save by the sufferance of abandoned and lawless men. Now we learn that the people of Columbia have been subject to the like visitation. The description is most piteous, reminding one of that plaintive appeal entitled the "Groans of the Britons," which the unhappy people addressed to the Roman General when the barbarians were driving them into the sea. It appears that the mob began with attacks upon the public stores, then private stables were sacked; then the supplies gathered at the depots for the suffering and starving poor of the city were carried off, then the wagons which conveyed there the charities of other cities were emptied. Even the mules attached to those wagons, and the cows upon which poor widows and orphans depended for support, were not spared. The Phoenix declares that there is no other prospect before the people but absolute famine and starvation. It says: "There are no less than ten thousand people here daily receiving rations, who have no other means of getting bread for themselves and children. See these unhappy destitutes at the ration house daily, clinging to its porches, eagerly waiting for its doors to open and give them that daily bread for which they are authorized and required to pray. The Executive Committee of Relief has given notice that their resources are nearly at an end; that they will, in a short time, be compelled to close their doors—all supplies exhausted and no means left them any longer to supply the citizens with food. What remains? The prospect before us is too terrible for contemplation. We shall have need to make away from a community which, thus plundered by man, may be fairly assumed to be abandoned of God."

The editor of the [illegible] having been censured by a correspondent for intimating that Jeff Davis should be hung, replies: "After the excitement has passed, and Jefferson Davis is hung, we may be sorry! But in all soberness, let us say if Jefferson Davis is not hung, the hand that in this land ever after signs a death warrant should drop from its socket. If he is pardoned, let every prison door open!"

After the evacuation of Petersburg, Pryor settled at his home near that city, and soon began the publication of the Daily News. After three different warnings from the Government authorities, this journal has now been suppressed for its disloyal sentiments, and Roger is thrown upon his oars again.

The Way of the Transgressor. — Lieutenant Maury, of the Washington Observatory, who deserted the Government that educated him and gave him whatever of fame he possessed, and went over to the rebels, is now in England, old and very poor. Subscriptions have been started there to aid him in his pressing need.

American Belles. — America is justly proud of her beautiful ladies, but how many lose their beauty, and lose their health and youth, become prematurely old in appearance, by neglecting to take proper care of their teeth. There can be no excuse for this, as Sozodont, pronounced by all worthy a place between the sweetest lips, can now be had in all civilized countries.

A Universal Medicine. By what we eat, by the air we breathe, or by the water we drink, we finally are made sick, because these effects end by producing impurities of blood. To regain health we must purify the blood by the organs of the stomach and bowels; the [illegible] must be continued or the regular performance of that duty which nature has assigned them, and should there be any impediment, to what does experience point? To BRANDRETH'S PILLS, which cannot injure, and which will surely restore the bowels to the regular performance of their duties.

The dyspeptic, the bilious, will find them a treasure of health, and the same may be said to all who are sick in any way. Take BRANDRETH'S PILLS and be cured.

WISTAR'S BALSAM
OF
HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY,
WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING
Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "the sanative gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of
has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

R. H. Finley, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.
E. Boyden, M. D., Exeter, Me.
Alexander Hatch, M. D., China, Me.
R. Fellows, M. D., Hill, N. H.
W. H. Webb, M. D., Cape Vincent, N. Y.
W. B. Lynch, M. D., Auburn, N. Y.
Abraham Skillman, M. D., Boundbrook, N. J.
H. D. Martin, M. D., Mansfield, Pa.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.
After October 1, 1863, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be enclosed in a new wrapper which will bear the printed names of both Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, Mass., and John D. Park, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as fac simile of the signatures of "I. Butts," "Sanford & Park," and "H. Wistar, M. D."

More of the Port Neuf Murders.—We have learned long particulars about this massacre from parties who passed along the route soon after the occurrence but on advisement it is deemed more discreet to keep them out of print, just yet awhile. Suffice it to say that seven out of that gang of fourteen or twenty, who infested that line of road since the 8th of July, saying they were in want of work or on their way to this and that place from the Boise country are named, marked and being watched pursued and looked for in more sections than one and that by forces fully able and experienced to find them out. Their names, their residence their description, their destinations, and the other circumstances, conversations, &c that are serving to determine if them is indiscreet to publish here at present. Whither they divided and scattered, some to Sulphur, some to Coach Valley, or some to this that and the other section, will be learned before very long. Everything will be effected at Virginia City and elsewhere to further pursuit and capture.

The details of the attack upon the coach, &c as now received, are different in minor matters to those at first published, but not materially so. The wounded driver, Chas. Parks, is still suffering, and considered hopeless. L. F. Carpenter escaped with three slight wounds. Jas. Brown (of Boise) escaped unhurt. The party were afraid that their coach would be attacked, while coming along from Bannack to this Canyon, seeing one of these suspicious fellows spying them along the road. The robbers jumped out of the willows and attacked the coach on the rear, and fired into it on both sides, as A. S. Parker chanced to see them first and say "Robbers, boys, fire!" W. L. Mers (being on the driver's box) and David Dinan fell dead instantly. A. J. McCausland lived a few minutes, only saying, "God have mercy on my soul!" After firing, Parker jumped out of the stage, and was shot after which the robbers dragged him by the hair of the head across the road, and shot him again. The driver, Frank Jennings, escaped a bullet by leaning aside and letting it enter the lamp, as Mers fell off the box. Brown (of Boise) also escaped out of the coach unhurt, and, amid volleys of buckshot and rifle bullets, reached the thicket, to afterwards hide behind a cliff until the party left the scene.

Dinan and McCausland failing to die, over Carpenter—inside the stage—fortunately gave the latter his ghost of a chance to "play dead," and thus live to corroborate what Brown, Parks, and the driver tell about the whole affair. Dinan's body had sixty one buckshot in his breast, one in left shoulder blade, one in right temple, two in left arm, and one across the lower jaw. The others received less, as their share, but a sufficiency to kill them almost instantly. On right side of the coach there were thirty-three shots fired (from the west), twenty-one from the opposite side, fourteen from the rear and seven from the front. The intention was to kill all the party, but seeing one (Brown) had escaped, the robbers didn't "finish" Carpenter, Parks and the driver, as they otherwise would have done, after getting all the parties had. Dinan and Carpenter had twenty-three thousand dollars worth of dust, and Parker and the others must have lost full forty thousand dollars altogether. Mr Gibson and Phil Rogers, at the station, assisted all they could, to help the friends of the deceased in the decent burial of the bodies on the hill about two hundred yards above the station house. The effects of the deceased, clothing, &c., are in Mr. Gibson's possession. One of the robbers was wounded, and it is hoped fatally enough to aid some if not killed by his partners—in the direction taken by the gang. The watch, hat and vest of the leader was picked up near the spring, where they un-blacked their faces. A more foul and [illegible] massacre has not heretofore been heard of on this road. But we have faith the fiends will be followed and this state of things "finished."—Union Vedette, July 21st.

Salisbury (N. C.)—An officer writes from Salisbury, North Carolina

"I am disgusted with Salisbury, and think it one of the most despicable places on the footstool. G[illegible] Stoneman wrought fearful havoc with it. He burned all the machine shops, and most of the public buildings. The prisons also have been entirely demolished. Ten thousand of our men, prisoners of war, have been buried here, the victims of the infernal treatment received from the barbarians employed by the rebel authorities to take charge of them and murder on pretext. I judge that they were buried in trenches, with the exception of a few officers, who were given separate interment. The inhabitants are organizing companies of home guards in different places, and considerable interest appears to be taken in the matter. Colonel C. Classen, of the New York One-hundred-and-thirty-second, was sent to Statesville last week, to see Mrs. Vance, wife of the rebel Governor. From what he said after his return, I am of opinion that some sharp sparring took place between them. Everything was cold and formal. But presently a nephew of Mrs Vance, Colonel Bayard, of the Sixth North Carolina cavalry, entered the house. Our men (the One-hundred-and-thirty-second Regiment) had whipped his train, a circumstance that made the two Colonels, so to speak, familiar acquaintances. A board has been convened here, with Colonel Classen as President, to examine officers desiring to remain in service. Having seen enough of military life, and the necessity for my services having terminated, I have declined an examination. Seventeen months in rebel prisons at Richmond, Macon, Charleston and Columbia, with thieves and ruffians for jailors, may well be considered as adequate experience of warfare. I do not know when I will be through, perhaps not till the expiration of my term of enlistment."

California Railroads.—Of railroads in California, and the progress made in constructing them, the Sacramento Bee, of July 24th, remarks

The activity of railroads, in extending their lines throughout the State, almost surpasses belief. The grading of the northern line is nearly completed between Marysville and Bear river while that of the section between the latter place and Lincoln must be deferred, owing to the hardness of the soil, until the rains commence this fall. The Western Pacific Company are about to place a gang of two hundred and fifty men on the line between here and Stockton, in order to accomplish the grading before the rains. The survey of the line is already completed to the Mokelumne river at a point about a quarter of a mile below the town of Woodbridge. The grading between here and Stockton is said to be a very easy one. The Central Pacific Company expect to have their line completed to the town of Colfax half a mile above Illinoistown by the 1st of September. The Sacramento Valley line is at work between Mud Springs and Shingle Springs. The Alameda Valley road will shortly be extended southward, so as to intersect the Western Pacific road at a point near Vallejo's Mills. Nearly five thousand laborers are actually at work on the various lines of railroad, and yet there is room for more therefore, let no man who is willing to work complain that he is unable to find employment.

Golden Record of the Progress of Rebellion.—[illegible] Barber & [illegible] exchange brokers of Augusta publish in a paper of that city a list of the price of gold for Confederate notes from January 1st, 1861 to May 1st 1865. The price of gold started at five [illegible] premium. December 15th it was thirty. January 1st 1862, it started at twenty, June 15th it was two dollar notes for one dollar gold. July 15th 1863 it was ten for one—this was just after Vicksburg and Gettysburg. January 1st, 1864 it opened at twenty one for one went down to eighteen May 12th, it went up to twenty July 15th, after Grant reached the James. December 1st, after Sherman reached Savannah it was fifty one for one, January 1st 1865, it opened at sixty for one, and went down to February 15th to forty six, it then started up again and April 20th, after Lee's surrender it was one hundred for one, it then rose one or two hundred a day until May 1st, when the last sale was made at twenty hundred for one.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices

PORTLAND, August 4th, 1865

We find ourselves in a rather [illegible] than for many days. Farmers are busily engaged in the harvest [illegible] of produce there is no considerable amount coming into market.

Flour firm at previous quotations. There was a large quantity on the steamship Brother Jonathan the last [illegible] which causes the market here to be rather firm at present. Knapp, Burrell & Co. Agents are offering a good quality of flour from Harrisburg Mills [illegible] It is gratifying [illegible] that most [illegible] the flour now made in Oregon is very much [illegible] the quality of a year or two since. The soil and climate of this State are well adapted to the growth of the finest cereals and the only thing lacking to make our bread stuffs equal is proper care in milling the grain. This is being done, and we consider the Harrisburg, among the best brands of family flour.

There is some inquiry for oats at 60@62 cents. Holders are firm at 65@70.

No wheat of the new crop has yet made its appearance although a quantity was expected on Monday last.

There is some change in powder, a good article of California manufacture, for blasting purposes sells at $5 ℔ keg. The ordinary price, unless sold by the quantity, is made from $5 50 to $6. Pound and half pound cans are lower.

Apples are freely offered and the best quality are sold at jobbing prices from 60 to 75 cents ℔ box.

Freights have fallen off on the Willamette river to some extent, but there is a moderate increase in traffic with the upper Columbia, and interior trade is more active.

FLOUR—Imperial $10 ℔ bbl Standard Mills $10 ℔ bbl Magnolia $10 Brooklyn Mills $10 other brands range from $8 50 to $9 according to quality.

GRAIN—Wheat $1 25@$1 30 ℔ bu; Oats 60@70c ℔ bush.

COFFEE—Rio 24c, Costa Rica, 25 Java, 30

Gentlemen:—From representations made by Mr. Tilton I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our [illegible] with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire these safes was taken from the ruins [illegible]

Everything had been Destroyed

We enclose the safe which had been left [illegible]

In Perfect Condition!

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK & H's cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. [illegible] 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb Place, Pad[illegible]; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street, Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charing Cross, Agar street, Strand; London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking but new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of excess indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible life destroying maladies, see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter, or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 202.
